Fall was a busy time for the MTM. We were visited by the Highway 80/94 Club on October 20th, by the Classic Auto Club on November 14th and participated in the Mother Goose parade in El Cajon on November 18th. We also participated in the Campo Lake Morena Roundup here in Campo. A more detailed account of the activities is presented below.

Campo Lake Morena Roundup 2012

The Sixth Annual Roundup was held at the Camp Lockett Equestrian Center on Saturday October 13th. There were all kinds of equestrian events as well as a reenactment of the Gatskill brothers gun battle with the Cruz Lopez gang on December 5, 1875 at the store in Campo.

MTM was there with a booth and our 1924 Mack. Andy Andrews drove the Mack in the opening parade with passenger Supervisor Dianne Jacob, parade Grand Marshal riding “shotgun.” Later he gave many of the visitors a thrilling ride around the grounds.

The truck ran well most of the time but had some issues with a small hill on Andy’s route. We were honored to be a part of this event and look forward to participating again next year.

The Mother Goose Parade

By Bryan Butler

Every year on the Sunday before Thanksgiving the City of El Cajon just east of San Diego sponsors the Mother Goose parade, the largest parade in San Diego County. This year the parade was on November 18th and the MTM provided The Grand Ladies of the Old West reenactment troupe with a ride on our 1923 Mack AB truck in the parade. Life member Bill Jellyman picked up the Mack on Sunday morning and loaded it onto his trailer pulled by his International truck. He and Andy Andrews (another Life member) took the truck to the corner of Magnolia and Main Street in El Cajon for the start of the parade. Andy drove the Mack on its 5 mile trek down Main Street with Andy and Bill Jellyman riding in the front seat while the Reenactors waved greetings to the watching crowd. It was an enjoyable venture and not at all the rain filled day the weather report had predicted.

Highway 80 and 94 Club Poker Run

The 20th of October was the busiest Saturday of this year for MTM as we received close to 250 visitors, all participants in the Highway 80/94 Club's "Poker Run." Many of the participants were driving beautifully restored classic cars and even a few trucks. What fun it was to entertain so many people, most of whom didn't know of our existence, with the thrill and discovery of our museum and its exhibits. Carl Calvert made fresh squeezed orange juice for the visitors using his antique Sunkist electric juicer.

A 1912 Mack Stage Picture

About 10 years ago the MTM restored a 1912 Mack Stage that used to run from the railroad terminal near Lakeside to Julian, California. Two vehicles were bought by Joe Foster, owner of the stage line, to replace his horse-drawn stages. This picture, found recently by the Julian Historical Society, shows the stage in the background. This one has the name "Julian Stage Lines" painted on the side of the front seat shown in the photo rather than spread across the three seats as it is on the restored stage.

The stage shows some hard use. The back of the rear seat shows some dents and scrapes where the cargo in the cargo box has battered the paint and the fringe on the top looks a little worn. The fourth seat, mounted in the cargo box is missing as it is on all the other operational photos of the two stages.

We have shown the picture around to our automotive friends and D. A. MacPherson of the Horseless Carriage Foundation Research Library has identified it as a 1911 or 1912 Regal Underslung (meaning that the frame rails were under the axles). The car was also known as the Regal Twenty for its 20-HP Motor. At that time windshields were optional and the removal of fenders was quite common. If anybody has any new information about the automobile or its handsome driver give us a call.

Addition and Correction

By Carl Calvert

In our last newsletter we had a story about the 1912 Mack stage that ran from the end of the railroad at the little town of Foster to Julian. Some of the information was inaccurate and the corrections were provided by one of our members.

Most folks hardly remember the small town of Foster that is now covered by the waters of San Vicente Reservoir which was built in 1941. The reservoir covered the remains of the town including its single story hotel, locomotive water tank, corrugated iron freight house, turntable, and private dwellings. The end of the railroad was located on land that had been purchased from the family of long time County Supervisor Joe Foster.

The railroad was not known as the San Diego, Arizona & Eastern but rather the San Diego & Southeastern Railway. This line was originally built by California Governor Robert Waterman in 1899 as the San Diego, Cuyamaca & Eastern Railway. This was a standard gauge railroad and was later purchased by the Spreckels' interest. In 1917 it was merged with the nearly completed San Diego & Arizona Railway.

Also, the idea of extending the rail line to Julian was Robert Waterman's rather than John D. Spreckles. He intended to haul gold ore from the Stonewall gold mine.

We want to thank Dick Pennick at the Pacific Southwest Railway Museum at Campo for the corrections and added information.
